Dear City Staff and General Plan Task Force,

I am writing in support of allowing 2-4 unit homes to be built in areas currently restricted to single family homes. Making this change throughout the city would help address San Jose's history of exclusion and serve other important priorities for the city. This change would not only create more housing (which we desperately need), but also be more sustainable and create more diverse neighborhoods.

I currently live in the Vendome neighborhood and appreciate how diverse our neighborhood is. With condos, single family homes, and apartments, I know that the mix of housing options here helps to create this diversity. I believe all of San Jose would benefit from creating more neighborhoods like this.

Thank you,
