

Let's chat about politician Gabby Chavez-Lopez|

Ad paid for by Common Good Silicon Valley PAC. Committee major funding from California Alliance of Family-Owned Businesses, Jay Paul, & Govern for California.

Not authorized by a candidate or a committee controlled by a candidate.

Hello. Ready to dive in?

When did Chavez-Lopez move into our district?

Ad paid for by Common Good Silicon Valley PAC. Committee major funding from California Alliance of Family-Owned Businesses, Jay Paul, & Govern for California.

Not authorized by a candidate or a committee controlled by a candidate.

When did Chavez-Lopez move into our district?

While Chavez-Lopez says she “grew up” in our district, her parents did not buy a house here until she was 30 years old. She moved into the district just a few weeks before the filing deadline after her political ally, Omar Torres, resigned in disgrace.

Source: San Jose Spotlight

How does Chavez-Lopez make her living?|

Ad paid for by Common Good Silicon Valley PAC. Committee major funding from California Alliance of Family-Owned Businesses, Jay Paul, & Govern for California.

Not authorized by a candidate or a committee controlled by a candidate.

How does Chavez-Lopez make her living?

In addition to her work promoting politicians, she is a landlord, earning hundreds of thousands of dollars from rents while refusing to support plans to build more quick-build and affordable housing.

Source: California Fair Political Practices Commission, "Form 700: Gabby Chavez-Lopez"

Did Chavez-Lopez violate ethics requirements?

Ad paid for by Common Good Silicon Valley PAC. Committee major funding from California Alliance of Family-Owned Businesses, Jay Paul, & Govern for California.

Not authorized by a candidate or a committee controlled by a candidate.

Did Chavez-Lopez violate ethics requirements?

Despite at least $2 million in property holdings, Chavez-Lopez failed to fully report her income on required ethics documents. She has not explained why she did not disclose her income as required.

Source: California Fair Political Practices Commission, "Form 700: Gabby Chavez-Lopez"

Ask anything

Ad paid for by Common Good Silicon Valley PAC. Committee major funding from California Alliance of Family-Owned Businesses, Jay Paul, & Govern for California.

Not authorized by a candidate or a committee controlled by a candidate.

Before You Vote,
Do Your Own Research on Politician
Gabby Chavez-Lopez.

Ad paid for by Common Good Silicon Valley PAC. Committee major funding from California Alliance of Family-Owned Businesses, Jay Paul, & Govern for California.

Not authorized by a candidate or a committee controlled by a candidate.